MERCER COUNTY NUTRITION PROGRAM

OUR NEW WEBSITE HAS LAUNCHED!
Check it out at princeton senior.org.
PSRC will work to assure that all aging adults, of diverse ethnic, socio-economic, educational, gender identity, sexual orientation, and immigration status, will be provided services through PSRC.

—PSRC Non-discrimination policy

I realized as I looked back over the past years of Director’s Messages, that while we hold being welcoming to all as a core PSRC value which we try to make evident every day, I have not written about it. A welcoming community can be like that—you assume that respect is there until one day something happens like a snarky or ignorant comment, and you remember that sometimes you have to make it intentional, to say it out loud.

I think that most of us believe that the communities we live in are more diverse than the ones we grew up in. Yet do we really know people different from ourselves? The national media has pointed out that while our country has become more diverse, we have less contact with people from different political parties, faiths, ethnic, and cultural groups.

PSRC offers great opportunities to get to know people who have had different life experiences and interests. When I first arrived here, some people said “PSRC is for residents in senior housing,” while others said “PSRC is for the wealthy people in the Western section.” I think we overcame those perceptions by offering a wide variety of programs in multiple locations that appeal to a diverse population. Someone once told me that PSRC and the Princeton Public Library are two places where people gather from throughout Princeton.

We also try to offer programs that give people opportunities to share thoughts and opinions, such as TED Talks and Let’s Talk. Evergreen Forum classes are discussion-based and provide space to explore a wide range of subjects. Special programs like “Growing up African American in Princeton” help us learn about others. The more we know each other, the less likely we are to say or do something unintentionally hurtful.

But it takes more than offering programs to be truly welcoming. It means that our staff need to be culturally competent to understand how different cultures view aging and older adults, to help people make plans for their future that are consistent with their own traditions and circumstances, and to ensure that people feel respected and truly heard. Cultural competence includes understanding LGBTQ concerns, gender differences, and how each generation views issues, not just ethnic and socio-economic differences.

Being a welcoming community also means that we all—staff, volunteers and participants—need to be respectful of each other and individually have a responsibility to intervene when something happens that is disrespectful. There are times that I have interceded when someone has been rude to one of the staff, and when participants got into a disagreement. PSRC can only be a safe space if there is no tolerance for hurtful behavior.

As the Princeton area becomes more diverse, we all need to learn more about each other, to check our assumptions, to listen carefully to each other, and to be respectful, even when we disagree. Together we can make PSRC a community where we learn about each other and treat everyone with respect. The world will be a better place.

Susan W. Hoskins, LCSW
Executive Director

COMING OF AGE IN AGING AMERICA
ENCORE PERFORMANCE
Monday, August 13, 11:00 a.m.
This is an encore screening of the film that was shown at the Princeton Public Library in May 2018. This 2017 documentary from American Public Television/PBS examines the approach of a global demographic where most of the population will be more than 50 years old. The far-reaching implications for America’s social and economic institutions as they adapt to this transformation are also examined.
This documentary and accompanying website have been designed as tools to change the conversation about aging and how our longevity will bring a systemic transformation of our society—today and in the future. The film’s central thesis is that an aging society is not just about old people—it’s our fundamental institutions, policies, and systems, and how to approach re-engineering them.
No fee. Registration required.

Cloud Services

One of the questions folks often ask when they visit the Technology Lab is, “What’s the cloud?” So, I thought it was time to talk about the cloud and offer some reasons to use it. I drew the nifty graphic below to help.

First, “Why the Cloud?” It’s an unfortunate name because it conjures up images of an ethereal network floating overhead. But it actually refers to the gazillion computers, servers, smart phones, tablets, etc., interconnected via the internet. (In that sense, your computer and mobile devices are also part of “the cloud”.)

Now, unlike the traditional (“dial”) telephone system, which connects two phones over a defined path of wires, the information you send over the internet is chopped into “packets” of data that are commingled with packets from other computers over the internet and reassembled at the destination. The email message you send to your son in Denver may be sliced into 10 pieces in Bayonne, shipped over the internet via 5 different paths, and reconstructed by computers in nearby Boulder—all within fractions of a second.

The YouTube video you’re watching on how to replace the shock absorbers on your Yugo comprises thousands of data “packets” that flow from the YouTube servers through the internet over many paths to your service provider’s (Verizon or Comcast) network and into your home.

Therefore, we can think of the internet as a “cloud,” where stuff goes in here and comes out there but doesn’t follow an identifiable path. In fact, it can follow many paths simultaneously.

When you Google a term, send an email, or open the princeton senior.org website, you’re using the internet to connect your personal computer to corporate “servers”—which are simply huge computers in giant buildings—in “the cloud.” These servers could be anywhere in the world. Apple’s iCloud could be in California or Great Britain; YouTube and Gmail servers could be in Seattle, Paris, and Tokyo; PSRC’s web server might be in Princeton or Bayonne or Chicago. It doesn’t matter because the internet is global, and it transports information at the speed of light.

So far, I’ve referred to servers in the cloud as sources of information—data that others have made available for you to download. But you can also use cloud servers as repositories to back up the information on your computer. Apple’s iCloud, Microsoft’s OneDrive, Google’s Drive, and Dropbox are excellent cloud-based backup services (I use iCloud and OneDrive). They’re seamless, reliable, and inexpensive.

If you want to know more about cloud services, stop by the Technology Lab on Tuesdays from 1:00 to 4:00 p.m., Wednesdays from 1:30 to 4:00 p.m., or Fridays from 10:00 a.m. until noon.
